Our Allergen Commitment

In 2016 we started serving over 100 gluten-free (GF) meals a day and that has grown now to over 300 with 3 locations. We have learned a LOT over the years, including which procedures are required to reduce errors. One of the most important factors that helps keep our food safe is providing ample wages to retain a highly trained, dedicated staff – you will likely see the same staff working the same shifts every week! Providing allergen-friendly food is an incredibly important part of our business and we're always working to do it better.

Other ways we reduce cross-contamination:

- Dedicated GF fryers with their own dedicated oil filtration system, which very few restaurants have.
- Same GF procedures regardless of whether a customer needs GF. You won't hear us yelling GF instructions because it's impossible to remember that as staff get other orders during the cooking process.
- Fresh gloves before every sandwich on our GF/Keto bun. We handle it with the same care as the rest of your meal instead of handing you a bagged bun.
- No shared breading. Our GF breading is never used on items that normally have regular breading, so there's no confusion.
- Bold, color-coded GF items on our kitchen screens to help prevent order errors.
- Gluten testing of new GF products before they reach our menu.
- Employee food brought from home is not allowed to be reheated, cooked or stored in our kitchens.
- Firsthand understanding. We have had numerous staff members with celiac disease and other allergens working in our kitchens over the years.

Please note: Our kitchen handles wheat and other common allergens, and we make many items from scratch. We take many precautions but cannot guarantee any item is completely allergen-free.
